The Gaccia of the 17th September, in an article on the condition of 'panish America, thus sums up the history of the Central and conthern States:—

The revolution of Mexico has ended in the tyranny of a Santa Anna, and the diamemberment and sale of its ferritory. The revolution in Venezuela has ended in the tyranny of a Moragas; the third part of Colombis has become the patrimony of a siegle family, and the standard of rebelion is waved in every province. The revolution of New Granada has ented in the tyranny of a Melo, in a sombat for the dicuatorship between mobocracy and associutism, while anarchy is waiting to eite upon the spells. The revolution in Peru has ended in a quarrel between covetounness and ambition for the Presidency, which has been a most lucrative business. The revolution in Bolvia has not only entitled civil strifts, but has drawn the country into foreign warfare. The revolution in belvia has not only entitled civil strifts, but has drawn the country into foreign warfare. The revolution in Central America has ended in the law of retailition between Guatemate and Honduras; in reciprocal aggressions on the part of both; in a strife for two principles—one that would place absolutism in the democracy, the other that would place absolutism in the democracy, the other that would place absolutism in the democracy, the other that would place absolutism in the democracy, the other that would place absolutism in the democracy, the other that would place absolutism in the democracy, the other that would place absolutism in the democracy of the Guelphs and Ghibelins—the government unshe to triumph over the government. The revolution which everywhere pervades our soil—now by the diplomacy of Senor Fquier, and now by the bombabells of Captain Holimp—has ended in our unfertunate nationality being confined between two mountains—between Lynch law and anarchy.

The betting previous to this was one hundred to thirty in favor of Jim, and his backers not wishing to lose the chance of having a race, offered to trot Nod, mile heats, for fifty dollars against thirty-five. This was accepted, and the horses were again put in readiness for a race. The betting now ranged at ten to two in favor of Jim. On the first heat Ned cas:

Loss of Lafe at the Ferry Bridges.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD. The remarks in yesterday's HERALD in relation to the less of human life at the ferry bridges, will do good. We keep a record of all the cases of na row escape from drowning, of injury, and of loss of life, at the ferry bridges, that we hear of, or that are chronicled in the city papers, and this record presents a frightful cata-legue—it will be printed, enclosed with black lines, and presented to the rext Legislature.

At the last session of the Legislature, Mr. Spencer, of New York, introduced a bill in the Senate requiring the New York, introduced a bill in the Senate requiring the New York ferry companies to provide life gates at the ferry bridges; but it was opposed on the part of the ferry companies; and on the promise of one of the principal managers of the Union Ferry Cen pany that tany would do something immediately about gates, it was allowed to test. Nothing in the shape of gate, has been provided, and the consequence is that in the last ten days three lives have feen lost. For meetly, a bell was a larg when the beat was ready to leave the bridge, out even this presention is now omitted. A loose chain is thing series the end of the boot, not to save life, but to meet the remark of one of the Judges of our courts, that the company must put something up. We may send you the long catalogue to publish when you can soure room for its insertion.

Oct. 9.—Burglary in the third degree—William Harris and Charles hieses! were put upon their trial for breaking into the store of hamiltor farrill, on the night of the 25th September last, and stealing thence a quantity of boots and shoes. The fact of the burglary was proved by the counce, who deposed that he had locked up his premises on the previous (Saturday) evening, and found them broken open and his property gone when he returned on the Monday morning. The crime was fastered on the prioners by the police officer, who found them both early on the morning of the 25th in Mulberry street, near Primee, carrying off their booty. They were immediately arrested, and on further investigation goods were discovered in the bouse of Henry Lindman, 145 Chrysuie street, the place indicated by the princer Harris. show a great diminution in the specie department. The week have created an impression that the banks will show a great diminution in the specie department. The effect on the money market and upon the stock mar-let is already visible, and it probably will continue until the outward increment of specie partially ceases. We cannot look for any relief of importance is that way for some weeks, but when it comes, it will be permanent. The operations in stocks do not show the real feeling of speculators. The sales made are forced by the stringent money market, and holders generally have so much confidence in the future that where regies are compelled to realize to meet pressing generally have so much confidence in the future that where parties are compelled to realize to meet pressing wants, the same quantity of stock is bought in again on time, buyer's option. In this way they serve any favorable turn that may take place; at all events, have all the advantages of time. The news from California is good—better than anticipated—and the remittances of gold larger than usual. The drafts for $709,000 on the Assistant Treasurer of this port, brought by the steamahip Northern Light, are equal to so much specie, for they will transfer that amount from the Sub-Treasury to the vaults of our banks. The directors of the 'gdensburg Railroad Company have The directors of the (gdensburg Enilroad Company have voted to surrender their property to the second mortgage trusters, with the understanding that the first mortgage is to have prior security on the earnings for the payment of interest. This may be considered a practicable compromise of conflicting interests, the first mortgage not having a full title to the road and superintendence, in consequence of being made before the road was fully completed, while the second mortgage is on the whole property. By the present arrangement all parties will be protected, and it is decidedly the most judicious course that could be pursued under the circumstances.

There has been quite a change in the movements of certain departments during the past week. Compared certain departments during the past week. Compared with the returns for the week previous, there has been a decrease in the line of discounts of $721,988, in deposits of $1,609,813, in specie of $1,411,717, and an increase in circulation of $206,851. The falling off in specie is full as large as was anticipated. The California receipts will go into the statements for next week, and we have no doubt the banks will then show an increase equal to the decrease this week. The future exportation of specie will be comparatively limited. The present exhibit calls for caution and contraction on the part of the banks. In March last, when the amount of specie on hand was not equal to that just reported, the line of discount was upequal to that just reported, the line of discount was up-wards of these millons greater.
